EDUCATION MANAGER

BIO

Emily Ciffone is the Education Manager at the Catherine Violet Hubbard Animal Sanctuary. For over 25 years, she has been dedicated to connecting people to nature and sharing the principles of environmental sustainability.

Emily holds a M.S. in Natural Resources with a concentration in Environmental Education. She has spent the majority of her professional life in Fairfield County, leading education teams at the Darien Nature Center and New Pond Farm Education Center. Emily loves engaging with people of all ages about the natural world but has a special affinity for early childhood education. Sharing the wonders of nature with toddlers and preschoolers fills her with joy and hope.

Emily's teaching philosophy is rooted in the belief that everyone needs and deserves access to nature. By allowing people of all ages to follow their curiosity and experience the wonder nature provides, we can build a safer, more compassionate world for all living things. She is eager to bring her passion and expertise to the Sanctuary's meaningful work.
